

Mark Taylor is "not just another wedding photographer" and your wedding is "not just another wedding". Your day is as important to us as it is for yourselves. We provide a fresh, innovative approach and a modern and imaginative style, which is at the forefront of wedding photography today.

The days have long since passed for just "traditional" wedding shots. More and more couples are looking for a more contemporary feel to their photographs, which capture the fun and emotions of the entire day.

Each wedding is approached individually; we will work around your day and fit in with your agenda.

Mark Taylor Photography provides a fully comprehensive service, including unlimited consultations, a creative and contemporary style of photography and a high quality album from which to display your photographs.

What should I pay?

As in all walks of life, you get what you pay for! If you wish to pay £395, then the level and quality of service will reflect this, if you were to pay £1000 then it is likely to be far superior. Prices will vary from person to person, and depend largely on the service you require.

At Mark Taylor Photography for example, our prices range from £120 to £1600, and vary depending on composition and style of your album. In general, all but our lowest priced service offers the following:

- Unlimited consultation
- Unlimited coverage up to the reception
- Unlimited number of photographs taken on the day
- Free DVD slideshow of all the pictures
- Proof on the internet free

We are always available to discuss your specific requirements and pass on advice throughout your planning. Spending time with each couple prior to the wedding ensures that we understand your thoughts, ideas and preferences. It also ensures that you know exactly what will be covered on you special day.
